Welcome Back

We hope you all had a lovely have term break.

We have been really impressed with everybody's kindness since the beginning of lockdown. There are a few examples of this on the page of pride.

Next weeks challenge: Can you share any photographs of science experiments or activities you have completed at home?

We are really pleased to see so many children and parents out on their bikes in parks so with this in mind we'd like to share a four week programme of activities that will help with mental and physical health. Parents just need to sign up to have the four week activity pack with active travel learning, videos, games, art and weekly challenges on line.

Adverse Childhood Experiences can have a negative affect on adults however there are things that can be put in place to protect children. The below training has been taken by many members of our staff and we feel it may be something that is of interest to our parents.

All about Castles

- Castles have been around for 900 years, they are medieval buildings that powerful people lived in.
- They are strong buildings and were made from wood, earth and stone.
- There are many castles still around the world today and lots of people visit them.

My family's pirate names:

Harry - Tumble pirate

Dad - Funky pirate

Mum - The amazing Captain Fox

Billy - Pirate Curl

Yvie - Scary Lacey

There once was a little boy who liked to go on new adventures. He had been out on his little boat, looking for mysterious fish. He hurried home to put his boat away. When he arrived home, he quietly pushed the blue front door open, crept up the long dark hallway to the cupboard door. Slowly he opened the door as it creaked. He squeezed into the gap he made. Ding! Ting! Bang! The boy slammed his boat into the messy cupboard. Suddenly he saw a big red and white aeroplane in the corner of the cupboard. He looked around the plane. He was impressed by its size. Nice shiny red colour, black wheels and spinning propellers.

The Virus

A virus started in the world and took away the fun
It turned everyone's day into rain clouds and covered up the sun
The world started to shut down they even closed our schools
Cinemas, theatres, pubs and clubs and all the swimming pools
Everything was closing down, we were told to stay indoors
Children started getting bored, anxious parents paced the floors

This virus was getting serious what are we going to do?
Everyone's getting poorly with the symptoms of the flu
Cherished family members dying being taken before their time
The virus took hold fast it was really in its prime.

There was only one solution, we all had to stay inside
So that the virus couldn't spread it was time for it to die
So the people started listening they stayed inside their homes
With no people to carry it around - the virus couldn't roam
Family members became lonely as we isolated from the old
But at long last we were finally doing as we were told
Ok we were locked inside and starting to go mad
And missing our friends and family and feeling very sad

We all went into isolation - the moment we were dreading
But this is what the virus needed just to stop it spreading

And soon it would give up the fight and let the people win
So life can go back to normality and all go back to living
Family and friends can start reuniting, so no longer are they sad
And this time of isolation and reflection make us appreciate all we had

The moral of the story is please do as you are told
Stay inside your homes so we can protect our families, the vulnerable and the old

Let's bring back the sunshine let it spread all over our lands
And not the nasty virus as we keep washing our hands!
